

Mercy's NICU suites offer special amenities, like Karen Neuberger gowns for new mothers and soft, cuddly blankets for newborns.

Pictured in one of our state-of-the-art NICU suites is Mercy's newest NICU neonatologist, Dr. Nicholas Sherrow.

TOTALLY SUITE

Mercy is home to the newest NICU in the area, providing the most cutting-edge model for the 21st Century.

One of only a few of its kind in the U.S., Mercy's NICU is setting a new standard for care. Every NICU suite is private and specially equipped for each baby's needs.

It's a truly family-centered approach, allowing families to be near their babies and the opportunity to be an important part of his or her care. Each suite offers 400 square feet of luxurious space and features special amenities that come standard in all Birthplace suites, all designed to make patients feel like they are "home suite home."

Suites offer private bathrooms with whirlpool tubs, comfortable beds and space for family members to visit when baby is ready. If a baby continues to need care after mom is discharged, there is no cost for parents to remain in the room.

The NICU is home to the area's most experienced neonatologist, Roger Allen, MD, and Mercy's newest neonatologist, Nicholas Sherrow, MD. We understand babies aren't on a 9 to 5 schedule. That's why Mercy's neonatologists are available 24/7.

Mercy is an advanced Level II NICU. This means Mercy uses the most state-of-the-art equipment and our medical staff have experience handling the most complicated cases for premature and ill babies 30 weeks and over or 2 lbs., 11 oz.

Visit www.mercycare.org/birthplace to see more of what you can expect at Mercy's NICU or to sign up for a personal tour.

Roger Allen, MD
Medical Director, Mercy's NICU